Dear All,

Happy to report that all is well in the good Ship Hasi where tonight of all nights there was clear evidence of the strength in depth of the Hasi Squads which gives us a major advantage when all fit and lots of options when others have none. The ability to cope with injuries and missing players is a big help to all. A wonderful night tonight where a plan came together, although no time to be complacent, still a long way to go and remember the key objective , Hasi 1 to get stable and safe, Hasi 2 to hit the tops, Hasi 3 to consolidate and Hasi 4 to develop. 3 of the 4 are working well, we need to keep an eye out for our friends in Hasi 3 who are fighting valiently and when the luck turns they will be an awesome force.

Hasi 1(19) Monton 2 (4) (Missing Captain Tom Mc through Injury - in comes Tim back from the depths like a new Signing and Tan steps up after such a great run of results in Hasi 2)

19-4-win great team performance

First up Tim at 5 close first game but settled down with a comfortable 3-0 win well played pal up next foxy John Corteen at 2 again a close first game but just turned that screw and ground down his opponent 3-0 win next up Tan the man 5 set thriller Tan 8-5 up in the 5th and having a shocking match point decision go against him 2 -3 unlucky pal so now both courts available Simon Latham and Gordon playing at the same time however si bringing the bacon home well played pal 3- 0 win and performance of the night for me , and Gordon with a rusty 1st game and then showing why he's a force at 1 well played pal 3-1 win job done well done to all you and massive thanks to see the full team on the balcony at 7pm cheers lads. No Gordon next week in the Big Local Derby vs St Peters, a must win or the CAPTAIN GETS FIRED

Crowe Wood (2) 6 Hasi (2) 18 _ Get in you Beauty 😊

Utterly Brilliant to be part of this group, the boys are on a mission and will not disappoint. Playing Promotion Rivals Crowe Wood knowing a win would put us firmly in the promotion slots, though a long way to go, we all turned up on time, and ready for action. Crowe Wood on the other hand were a little dejected at the start having had many injury's and struggling to cope with them. Dave O on first, a pleasure to watch (after Valium) and what you can promise with Dave is that he will give 110 % a fantastic team member and Joy to be involved with, sadly on this occasion he fell victim of the wrong side of a 3-2 syndrome, an affliction I know well, It will Turn Dave and besides 2 points in the bag 😊 Hasi 1 down.

Next up Captain Most Caps in Mick Hodge – Mr Reliable, Hasi's most capped player at 151 appearances since 2009, match won 3-0 never in doubt, especially as his opponent retired hurt as Mick Retired to the Bar. _ Match 1-1

Next up Ben (get your monies worth) Nelson - Sadly had used all the Valium watching Dave so had to go through this cold turkey, come back Chris Nuttall all is forgiven! Ben ran out 3-0 winner and that's all you can ask - Hasi 2-1 up

Next Up Angry Dave Scurlock - Clearly this season means a lot to Dave which is great to see - however not the best night tonight sir, seemed a little ruffled on court and let several things bother him which is unusual, however if you are to lose, lose 3-2. And besides

Having Dave S on the Balcony is worth at least 3 points a night in advice and coaching.

So the scene s set, match 2-2 leaving me to play, confidence shattered having been jettisoned from Hasi 1 and rightly so - Pleased to say that I managed to come through with a 3-0 win (helped in no small part by the pre-existing injury to my opponent forcing him to retire in the 3rd game, - match won - daylight between us and our main rivals.

Hasi 3 Lost 8-15 (2-3)

The evening began well with Danny playing a blinder down the pub again. You've heard of 'shadow boxing'? Well Danny is playing shadow squash against an imaginary opponent. He could get used to this, but I am sure he'd rather have played than get a walkover again.

Simon B took his time to get his act together after losing the first game but cruised to a 3-1 win after that although his opponent did seem to be figuring him out as the match went on but by then it was too late.

Derek played a guy who was 8' 6"" tall, but suffering from man flu. Won the first but then couldn't keep him running enough to take advantage of his discomfort. If I'd won the 4th am sure he would have needed paramedics in the 5th. (Fortunately the DLC #1 was in fact a paramedic should be have been needed.)

I'm just praying it isn't catching.

Simon W played Paul Locke who just creamed everything loose within a centimetre of the tin. He did well to take a game.

Alan drew the short straw, playing #1 on the basis that he had previously played several matches for Hasi2. He played well against a player ranked higher than some of our first team. I know he hates me for deciding the playing order as I did but when you have 4 number 3's in your team what are you to do?

Still 8 points may be enough to see us leap up the table. Waiting anxiously on Wigan's result. I hope they get hammered.

St Peters (2) 7 Hasi (4) 17 - Bragging rights with Hasi - Si Foster keeps his Job

We turned up all on time. Took a call from Gibbo demanding a tenner for appearance money pre-game. Isn't he doing on to France soon? Hmmmm Gibbo duly turns up and I slip him a brown one all hush hush

Gibbo 2-3

Jesus h. Nothing left on court here I'm verbally slapping him

Daft in between games. Foxy is giving it the full eye bulge so I back off. Momentous.

But the bald Croat slips our mate a mickey and sneaks a win

Ray. 3-0

Ray rollls his cap out as he does every week

Crushes his man with a smile and shhhh shhh shh as the pinky plays a blinder

Foster man mountain

3-0

Don't try and trim this lads bush.

Boom, cross court

Boom, boost

Boom eye bulge

Boom Bruce keep your views to yourself sunshine or end up on the compost heap.

He was due one. And he's man got one

Walshy 3-1

Like his car. Very shiny and a nice ride

Needs to get dirty job done this time. Like to see some more bodily fluids involved

Bruce 1-3

Hmm cat walking round house slightly strangely. Behind carried quite high

Bottom lip on full

Stop getting annoyed and annoying

Next time

We won 3-2

Man of match Gibbo total Viking
