After the euphoria of last week's win we came back down to earth.
On the hottest day of the year we kicked off with Bruce taking no chances against young Charlie McCrone playing at #4. He won comfortably , Charlie was making her debut for the team having previously visited Hasi on a Saturday and shown our boys how to do it I understand.

In turn, making his debut for Hasi was Oliver Baynes at #5. He played another junior, Rachel , albeit one who was 2 years older and at least a foot taller, if not two feet. Oliver played some good squash, especially when he drove the ball down the walls hard. He came off court having given his all going down 0-3 , no disgrace as several of his more mature teammates also lost 0-3. There will be another opportunity for Oliver before summer is out.

Father Simon couldn't handle the heat, nor Hanna's running and lost 0-3.

Derek should have at least taken Steve to a 4th game but conspired to lose from 14-10 up. Grrrrrr.

Finally , as usual we sent Andy on with nothing to play for but pride, against the unorthodox but talented Ben Shuttleworth. We thought Andy had him after squaring things up in the 2nd game , but it wasn't to be.

But the pizzas in the pub afterwards were great, and we even saved the right ones for our resident veggies.
